Seven Major Chakra Cleansing

Within the human body, there are 7 primary chakras that have a very important role in the three layers of the human body. These chakras are the centre of metaphysical energy that continually influence the wheels of human life, especially as a driving force of the physical body and its organs. Therefore the metaphysical energy in the human body must always be in harmony, clean and maintain its purity in order to provide positive things to the human body such as physical and spiritual/mental health.

The seven main chakras in order to always be harmonized, clean and have sacred energy must always be cleaned and harmonized with the physical body, many ways can be done including cleaning by people who have special abilities, by means of holy water cleansing (ruatan/ penglukatan), biased also by doing continuous meditation.
